Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

Petersburgh, Jan. 26. N. S.

The Speech of the Ambassadors of Kouli Kan, which they made to the Czarina in the Persian Language, on the 25th of December, when they had their Audience of Leave.

Most Serene and Most Potent Great Lady, Empress and Sovereign of all the Russias.

SINCE We the most submissive Servants of the two Empires, having in Charge the Amicable Letter of his Majesty the great Cagan or Lord, the Conqueror blessed by God, the Sovereign of Ivan, the Sophi Naïr, renowned thro' out the whole World, came with it to the most high Court of the Great Lady your Imperial Majesty, who are adorned with a Crown as resplendent as the Sun and Moon, who sitteth upon a Throne as high as the Heaven, who commands a People as numerous as the Stars, a Prince who surpasseth many Monarchs of the Universe in Glory and Prosperity, and to whom we came to execute the Commissions and Orders which our Master gave us by Word of Mouth: Ever since that time till now, your Majesty, tho' we have not deserved it, has given us constant Proofs of the Effects of your most sublime Benevolence, for which we return you our most humble Thanks; and as we leave your most High Court, and return homewards with abundant Satisfaction, we shall think ourselves obliged as long as we live to praise your Imperial Majesty's Glorious Name. We wish that Almighty God may continue to grant your Imperial Majesty a happy Reign full of Blessings, and that he may cause you for ever to triumph over the Common Enemy. While we prostrate ourselves before you, we pray that if during our Stay at your most high Court, we have thro' Ignorance committed any Fault, either by Word or Deed, it may please you, from your Greatness of Soul, to pardon it. We take the Liberty to assure your Majesty, with the profoundest Respect, that at our Return into Persia we will endeavour, by our faithful Services towards the two Empires, to render ourselves worthy of so signal a Favour. Moreover, we invoke the Almighty God, that he will cause the strict Amity established between the two Empires to subsist without Interruption, and that all who envy them may be cover'd with Shame and Confusion.

The Prince Czerkaski, a Minister of the Cabinet, made the following Answer, in the Name of the Czarina.

Tho' her Imperial Majesty in her Letter to his Majesty the Sophi, therein notifies to that Prince her real Friendship, and the good Opinion she still bears of him; yet she desires of their Excellencies the Ambassadors, that when they return, they will please to assure his Majesty the Sophi, by Word of Mouth, in the strongest Terms, that her Imperial Majesty will take all the Care she can on her part to cultivate and establish the Amity and Good Intelligence established between her Majesty and the Sophi; and that she will neglect no Opportunity to give Proofs of her good Intentions upon that Head. Her Imperial Majesty moreover desires of their Excellencies the Ambassadors, to assure his Majesty the Sophi, that it has been a particular Satisfaction to her to hear of the signal Victories which he has gained over his Enemies; that she congratulates him on those Advantages; and that she sincerely wishes him the Continuance of Happiness, and a most prosperous Reign. For the rest, her Imperial Majesty declares, that as this Embassy has been very agreeable to her, she is also very well pleased with the wise and prudent Conduct of the Ambassadors, and she assures them of her Imperial Favour and Goodwill.

Then the Prince Czerkaski took from a Table plac'd near the Throne and cover'd with Scarlet Velvet and Gold Fringe the Letter from the Czarina to Kouli Kan wrapp'd up in a Piece of Gold Tissue.

This Letter he presented to her Imperial Majesty, who order'd him to deliver it to the Ambassadors. The latter no sooner receiv'd it but, according to the Persian Custom, they put it upon their Heads, and then gave it to their Secretary, who carry'd it before them to their Lodging.

Admiral Sievers who has not been at Court for many Years is, as we are assured, to be shortly recalled. An Express from Capt. Spanberg, a German at Kamsharska, has brought Advice that as the Captain embark'd upon the North Sea towards the End of last Summer with four Ships, he had not sail'd above a Fortnight when he discover'd 34 Islands great and small, whose Inhabitants sent off six of their Vessels to him, which were built like Gallies; that he went ashore at one of these Islands without the least Opposition; that the Inhabitants tho' very much surpris'd receiv'd him with sundry Marks of Friendship; but that not being able to understand their Language, he was oblig'd to converse with them by Signs; that the Inhabitants very much resembled those of Japan in their Manners and Deportment; that they shew'd him Coins both of Gold and Copper of which they seem'd to have a great Quantity; and that after he had satisfy'd his Curiosity, he went aboard again and return'd to Kamsharska, where the Captain said nothing of the Discovery he had made, but contented himself with giving Advice of it to the Court, to which Place he desires Leave to repair, alledging, that he has Things of the utmost Importance to discover which relate immediately to the Interests of the Czarina, and which he cannot communicate to any but to her Imperial Majesty or some one of her Ministers. The Permission he desir'd has been granted him, but 'tis a Question whether he can be here before May. He has sent some of the Coins hither which are current among the Islanders that he visited. They are round Pieces with a Hole in the Middle, and cover'd with very odd Characters.

Constantinople, Dec. 30. N. S. The Ratifications of the Treaty of Peace between the Grand Signior and Russia were exchange'd 2 Days ago by the Grand Vizier and M. Wessnikoff with the same Ceremonies as were observ'd at the Exchange of the Ratifications of the Treaty concluded with the Emperor.

Warsaw, Feb. 1. N. S. When the Lieut. General Baron de Lowendahl surrender'd the Citadel of Choczim to the Turks, he made a Present to the Bashaw of a Fusce and two Pistols finely wrought. The Bashaw made a Present to the General of a rich Cossan lin'd with Ermin. The other Officers as well Russians as Turks also made Presents to each other before they parted.

Ravenna, Jan. 25. N. S. The People of this City were to a Man very much concern'd for the Departure of Cardinal Alberoni the Legate of this Province, whose Merit, Ability, and other uncommon Qualities had won the Hearts of all the Subjects of Romagna, who will never forget the Favours they have receiv'd from him, nor the Justice with which he gloriously govern'd this Province; and they shew'd him all possible Marks of their Acknowledgment by the Honours which they paid him even to the very Day of his Departure. A few Days after he went, Cardinal Marini whom the Pope has appointed to succeed him arriv'd here, and was receiv'd by the People with all the Marks of Honour usual upon such Occasions; and we hope, that under this new Legate we shall enjoy all the Privileges that were so liberally granted by Cardinal Alberoni.

Rome, Jan. 30. N. S. The Pope, who has not been able to rest for several Days by reason of a Retention of his Urine, was very ill the Night before last. The Fever discovering itself with Convulsions, the Sacrament was given to him about 8 next Morning, and the Cardinals of his Creation were sent for. The Pope having slept a little Yesterday, he was better and his Fever left him; but at Night his Holiness receiv'd the Extreme Unction, and made a very godly and affecting Speech to his Domestic.

Berlin, Feb. 9. N. S. The King was blooded a few Days ago, since which he has been better, but he still keeps his Chamber. The Hereditary Prince of Hesse Hombourg, a General of the Forces of the Czarina arriv'd here last Saturday with his Consort and the Princess de Cantimir Daughter of the late Hospodar of Wallachia. The Prince has had the Honour to pay several Visits to the King, who has receiv'd him very graciously, and he has had the Honour to eat with the Queen and the Royal Family, as has also the Princess his Spouse.

Dublin, Jan. 29. Last Friday his Grace the Duke of Devonshire gave fifty Pounds more towards the Relief of poor Tradersmen, &c.

The Dean and Chapter of Christ-Church gave forty Pounds.

We hear from Newry, that they have collected above fifty Pounds for the Support of poor Tradersmen in that Town, who are unable to work by the Severity of the Weather; and we likewise hear from other Parts of the greatest Distress imaginable all over the Kingdom; and that there never was known to be so great a Spirit of publick Charity as at this Time, by all Persons whatever who can afford it; and indeed the Poor of this Nation had never so much Occasion for it. It is to be hoped, that our Absentees will contribute in this great Calamity, for the Support of their poor Tenants, who are now unable to pay them any Rent.

Several Ladies of great Quality and Distinction have actually agreed to give all the Money they win at Quadrille, &c. to the distressed Poor, while this hard Weather continues; and some of them, we are well assured, have already sent handsome Sums to the Church-wardens of several Parishes.

Last Week there happened in the County of Kildare an extraordinary Instance of Affection in two Brothers: They were Batchelors, and always lived together; the elder being 77, had a Fever, and finding himself sinking, exhorted his Brother, who was ten Years younger, to resign himself to Heaven, and bear their Separation with Christian Patience; but he was so sensibly touch'd with Grief, that losing his Appetite, he fasted two Days, and expired as soon as he was told his Brother was dead. They were the eldest Branch of the Family of Balinglaff. They lived most innocently, went constantly to Church, and spent their Fortune and Lives in good Nature and Charitable Acts.

Yesterday the House of Commons met according to Adjournment, and the House was very full; but on Account of the Severity of the Weather, they have adjourn'd again to next Monday, when there will be a fresh Call of the House.

Letters from Paris say, that next Spring 12 or 13 Battalions are to be employ'd on the Works of the Canal of Gravelin, which 'tis computed will be finish'd this Year.

Those from Lisbon say, they have had Letters there with Advice that two Men of War of Admiral Vernon's Squadron appearing off of one of the Forts of Carthagena towards the Close of last November; the Governor not knowing what Nation they belong'd to, sent out a Bilander to get that Intelligence, which the Men of War took and immediately disappear'd. Those Letters add, that there were then six Men of War at Carthagena ready to sail; that the Treasure, which consisted of 12 Millions of Pieces of Eight, had been transported from Lima to Panama, and that there were 2 Millions more at Callao that were also to be sent forthwith to Panama.

By Letters from Biscay we learn, that they are hard at Work at Laredo, St. Andero, and Castro d' Urdiales, in fitting out 45 Ships to be employ'd next Spring in cruising upon the English Shipping; and they advise from the Groyne, that the Inhabitants on the Coast of Galicia are also preparing to cruise after the Ships of that Nation.

Letters from Barcelona advise, that a Palace is furnishing there for the (late) Duke of Ormond, who was expected there every Day with two Noblemen of great Distinction.

Some Letters from Constantinople by way of Venice say, that the Gr. Signior intended to send an Ambassador to the King of France, to thank him for his Mediation between the Porte, the Emperor and Russia.

The News from thence dated the 30th of December make no mention of the Troubles that were said to be at the Porte in the Letters from Vienna; that on the contrary all is quiet there; that the Gr. Vizir continues to be in Favour, and that the Janizaries make no Motion tending to a Mutiny, but that the Porte is very much taken up in finding out Ways and Means to humble Thomas Kouli Kan.

We hear from Hull, that no Ships can pass up or down the Humber by reason of the Ice.

The Diamond, Cullingham, bound from Gibraltar to Cork, founder'd 20 Leagues off Cape Clear, three of the Crew taken up by a Fishing boat.

The Henry, Marshall, is arrived at Crookhaven from London, bound to Cork.

The High Bailiff for the City and Liberty of Westminster has given Orders to the Scavengers forthwith to cleanse the several Streets in the said City and Liberty, otherwise they will be prosecuted according to Law.

The Lord Mayor and Aldermen of this City, and the Justices of the Peace for the City and Liberty of Westminster, have receiv'd Orders to put the Law in Execution which pass'd in the Reign of King William relating to Coals.

On Thursday last the Lord James Cavendish, who was crossing the Thames on the Ice from Westminster Bridge to Strandgate fell in and was in great Danger of being drown'd.

An eminent Apothecary on Fish-street Hill, in Consideration of the Severity of the Season, has distributed Bread, Money, and several Chaldrons of Coals, among many poor Families, which upon Inquiry he found almost starv'd, and especially to some that received no Benefit from the Parish. A very prudent Example for other well disposed Persons to follow, in the Distribution of their Charities.

A very considerable Draught is order'd to be made out of the Marching Regiments on this Establishment, in order to be sent abroad, under the Command of the Right Hon. the Lord Cathcart, and General Whetham.

Yesterday Morning Mr. Tucker, a Peruke-maker in Great Maddox-street, Hanover-Square, fell from the Top of his House, and was kill'd upon the Spot.
